

W. R. Curry Celebrates 80th Year

On Sunday, August 7 Mr. W. R. Curry of Haliburton celebrated his 80th birthday complete with a cake ablaze with 80 candles.

The family, including five grandchildren and seven great grandchildren, held a party at "Driftwood," Mr. R. J. Curry's summer home on East Bay, Drag Lake.

Mr. Curry, who was born in Glamorgan township, Haliburton County, related many interesting experiences in pioneer days.

Mr. Curry was the recipient of many lovely gifts, messages of congratulations were sent from the Rt. Hon. and Mrs. L. M. Frost and many other friends.

Original Deed

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Rastall of the Dominion Hotel have secured the original deed of Crown land sold to Charles Boswell dated November 16, 1865. Said deed: "Thirty-five acres bordering the Gull River sold for the sum of $24 with a road allowance to be left along the river."

This deed is on the heavy paper used in the time of Queen Victoria and the handwriting is beautiful and clear. On the top left hand corner is the official seal and the paper is in wonderful shape for its age.

The paper was found by Mr. Oscar Yarnold of Haliburton who also has a copy of the first minutes of the Minden council which we may publish at some future time.

The building was originally the Dominion House and then changed to "hotel" as it is today.

The first building may have been burned in the first fire but the present building has been on this location for many years.

The Rastalls plan to have this deed framed and hung where anyone may see it.

Country And Western Show Comes To Minden

One of America's foremost folk musicians and his talented troupe of country and western entertainers, Doc Williams and the Border Riders, will appear at the Minden community centre on Wednesday, August 17.

A big two hour stage show is scheduled to get under way at 8.15 p.m. A program of round and square dancing will be featured after the show.

Doc is a veteran of the radio and television networks. He has become internationally famous as one of the top stars of the famous WWVA Wheeling Jamboree, which emanates from radio station WWVA, Wheeling, W.Va. He has also been starred on numerous network television programs.

Among the many outstanding features with this western musical show are Chickie Williams, lovely singer of ballads whose recording of "Beyond the Sunset" catapulted her to a top spot among girl vocalists; the Sisters Three, a vocal group, composed of Punkin, Peeper, and Poochie, who are the daughters of Doc and Chickie Williams; Marion Martin, noted accordionist and composer and the amazing Little Mose, a mystifying novelty act.

Little Mose, who weighs only 100 pounds, has baffled scientists the world over. To date, no one has ever been able to lift Little Mose against his will. Many famous strong men, such as "Two Ton" Tony Galento, have attempted to lift Little Mose and have failed.

Doc Williams, who discovered Little Mose in Charleston, W.Va., several years ago, and who has featured him with his shows in many of the major cities of the U.S. and Canada offers a reward of $1,000 to anyone who can prove trickery such as mechanical devices, wires, hooks, pulleys or magnets in Little Mose's astonishing and bewildering performance.

It was also announced that bargain prices will be in effect for the appearance of the Doc Williams show in Minden. The price for adults will be $1, while children 12 or under will pay only 50 cents. The admission price for the dance, which will follow the show, will be a very reasonable 50 cents.

Letter From Australia

Mrs. Darwin informs us that she has received a letter from Al White who has a cottage at Kushog Heights but is at present in Sydney, Australia.

Al is well known here and sends his regards to all his friends and although he has in his travels visited many countries, he has yet to find anything that will compare with the Highlands of Haliburton.

EDITORIAL

The Beginning of the End

ON THE AFTERNOON of May 25 officials of the Canadian National Railways met in Haliburton to ascertain whether anyone had any objections to the cessation of passenger service on the Lindsay-Haliburton line.

As far as Haliburton is concerned people could not have cared less. The only ones we noticed at the hearing were G. H. Windsor and R. J. Curry. Snowdon township were represented by their reeve E. H. Peacock and councillor R. J. Milburn.

At subsequent meetings held of the various councils Snowdon and Lindsay town council were the only bodies who did not favor the move. Maybe they could see what was coming.

If it were not so tragic it would be highly amusing to hear people bemoaning the fact that we never get any new industries. These same persons show very little or no interest in the industries that we have.

The railroad in Haliburton must be regarded as an industry, but like many others it may be a thing of the past if some positive action is not taken.

We have just been shown a letter that states train service will be curtailed as of September 3 to two days a week. If this action is taken and we sit back and do nothing, they will soon be making razor blades out of the rails that link Lindsay and Haliburton.

As far as passenger service is concerned it could not be expected to pay in its present set up but who will contend that the freight and express service on this line does not warrant tri-weekly service?

We hope action will be taken by the Dysart council backing up the councils of Lindsay and Snowdon in order that we may retain our present service. Possibly Somerville township would lend their support.

Haliburton businessmen could do their part by circulating a petition and securing the backing of our federal member, Mr. C. W. Hodgson in seeing that our pleas may reach the proper authorities.

One thing we are quite positive of, if train service is cut to the point where we are only to have two trains per week, it will surely be the beginning of the end and it won't be long before we are without any train service whatsoever.

12th Regatta Proves Successful

Haliburton Lake—Saturday night, July 30 at the Haliburton Lake community centre the annual regatta dance drew a packed house to witness the posting of the lucky winner of a spanking new sail boat.

In an effort to promote safe boating the Haliburton Lake cottagers' association presented to Mrs. G. G. Bars this year's winner, a fibre-glass sailboat. It is felt that the promotion of sailing class boats will help curb some of the high speed outboards and teach safer boating.

Sunday, July 31 brought approximately 2,000 residents and visitors to Haliburton Lake to watch the annual regatta. Spectators on the beach were kept informed of race results and retails via public address and short wave radio.

The greatest interest this year centred around the swimming races.

The regatta committee, Wilson Clark, Bob Mitchell, Jim DelGreco, Lorne Regan and Hugh Newton were ably assisted by a multitude of cottagers. The refreshment booth, a necessary asset, was operated by the ladies' committee under Mrs. M. DelGreco.

In addition to demonstrations by the McCulloch Co. and the Dowty Turbocraft, the Haliburton Lake ski club exhibited their skills during race intermissions.

Combine Curling Rink And Exhibit Building

At a recent meeting of the executive of the Minden curling club and members of the agricultural society it was decided to proceed this fall with the building of a combined exhibit building and curling rink on the fair grounds.

Some work has been done this week preparing the base for the main floor.

The building will be 172 feet long, insulated throughout and will be aluminum covered with office and club rooms combined in front which will be two storeys high.

This structure will be a great advantage to the fair and curling clubs. Its construction is being made possible by donations and efforts of both organizations along with other citizens of the area. Kirkfield Crush Stone Co. have donated 90 tons of crushed stone for use in the building. All who have signed for donations and anyone who has not yet been contacted and wishes to donate to this building kindly contact Miss Joan Hewitt at the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Miss Hewitt is treasurer of the building fund.

Can We Survive Without Industry?

IN REVIEWING the bank reports which we receive every week and by reading the financial pages of our daily papers, it all points to a very bleak winter. It could, in all probability, be one of the worst winters since the last depression. And we ask ourselves will we feel the pinch in Haliburton County?

You bet your life we will. Unless something unforeseen comes up, brace yourselves for a cold winter in more ways than one.

Since we all live in Haliburton County and derive our living here, it is time we took a look at our own back yard.

At the present time we are trying to live 12 months of the year on six weeks' tourist business. Now don't take us wrong and say we are against the tourist industry. By no means—we are right behind it and enjoy the privilege of seeing everyone busy at this time of the year. But we must face the fact that we cannot live on this six weeks of business alone.

The answer is industry and more work in the winter months.

Come this winter when men are out of work there will be plenty of kicking and something must be done. You may say we can't get industry. Why not? We have never tried too hard. We will admit that in order to get some kind of an industry in the county, whether it be large or small, the local municipalities will have to make some changes and bend over backward to see that they get what they want.

In this great county of ours we have many organizations and it's time they put the pressure on the powers that be to see that some action will be taken. We have heard a lot of talk about things we are going to get but in the past it's been simply a lot of hot air.

It's not only a few that are affected, it's every one of us. If we all pull together we will hit our goal.

Irregardless of what political affiliation you may have throw it away for the time being and let's face this urgent problem together. Remember when the working man isn't working, we all suffer, because he is the man that keeps the money in circulation.

We Can't Be Satisfied

THE 17th annual Haliburton Rotary carnival and parade has rolled down the street and is now history. As one summer visitor told us the night of the parade that Haliburton has one of the best parades for a town of its size in Ontario. This year's parade was definitely a good one and it was one of the most successful carnivals the Rotary club have staged in its 17 years of operation.

But as Rotarians, businessmen and lodge owners, can we sit back and say that we are satisfied. In the Echo office we had a sign saying "when you are through changing—you're through."

No none of us can sit back and say that we can't make it a better parade. For one thing, in our opinion, we still believe the parade should start at the Haliburton County District High School and proceed along the lakeshore to the main drag ending up at the arena. By doing this many obstacles which face the present parade route would be taken care of.

For instance when the parade got to the main street it would be straightened out and without hills or back streets to contend with.

Another factor that must be taken care of come the next parade in 1961 is this business of having big gaps at different spots in the parade. At times the people watching the parade think it's all over when low and behold along comes another flock of floats. And you can't have a parade without plenty of music.

This year we had two bands, but a parade of this size could stand three.

The business establishments and tourist industry had a very good array of floats, but the parade could still stand more. Where else in the world can a man in business get as much free advertising as in this parade.

These are just a few of the things that can be ironed out before the parade hits the main street next year. And we believe that the Haliburton Rotary club will see they are done. Yes, the Haliburton Rotary club have a big thing in the parade—so big that it's worthy of a write up in the Star Weekly or the Weekend Tely. Let's not be satisfied, but continue to make it even bigger and better.

Record Tourist Season — No Thanks To Gordon Sinclair

THE HIGHLANDS of Haliburton are witnessing one of the best tourist seasons in its history. With the tight money policy we have at the present time we believe the visitors are not spending as freely as before but we have more tourists in the area than ever before.

Towns such as Minden and Haliburton and surrounding villages are finding that business practically every day of the week is good.

Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce we have more people coming into the area for the first time and we hope this will be repeat business. In our opinion the great cottage developments that have sprung up from every section of the county are starting to pay off as far as the business men and the local citizen is concerned. This is one of the main reasons why the streets in every village and town in the Highlands are getting more crowded.

Here we have people from every walk of life, from towns and cities in Canada and the U.S. buying cottages and they all have a stake in our beautiful Highlands of Haliburton. In most cases the roads are good into these developments and every day they are being improved on.

As you know that great radio announcer and journalist, Gordon Sinclair, has a cottage in Muskoka. If you haven't found that out by now you are not listening to his news summaries over CFRB five days a week. Here's a man that we have great respect for but to listen to him one would draw the conclusion that Muskoka is heaven on earth and the only summer location in Ontario.

We would like the Chamber of Commerce to write Mr. Sinclair a letter and invite him here for a week end to show him that the Highlands of Haliburton is so far ahead of Muskoka as far as scenery and resorts are concerned that it isn't even funny. Yes, Gordon, there are more places than Muskoka.

A Great Tourist Attraction

WHEN the Haliburton Rotary Club purchased the steam locomotive from the CNR and placed it at its present site many of our local citizens, including the writer of this editorial, though it was a waste of money and just an ornament that would sit there unnoticed by the visitor in Haliburton.

We have all been proven wrong as this engine has attracted hundreds of citizens and summer guests from near and far. What a great tourist attraction it has turned out to be and there is hardly a minute in the day you can drive by that you don't see cars parked and people out taking pictures of it.

What a thrill it is for the youngsters to sit in the cab of the engine and make believe they are taking over the throttle from Casey Jones. Even the grown-ups like to climb aboard while their friends take a picture that can be cherished and looked at for many years to come.

The historical committee of the Rotary club still have more work to do on the locomotive before the dedication which will be held some time in September or October.

And what a night this will be for the men of the local Rotary club who had the foresight to see that this would be a great attraction for Haliburton.

Use common sense with matches, cigarettes, and camp fires when in the bush.

Remember 80% of forest fires can be prevented by you.

Down Main Street

Many business places in the community have taken on a new look. An out of town sign painter has been doing the rounds, painting signs and scenes in buildings and business establishments. Elstone's Sunoco Service have their name on their garage now and the Rexall drug store, whose proprietor is Mr. M. R. Nicol, have their name in large letters on the side of their building. Picturesque outdoor scenes have been painted on the following business places on Haliburton's main street: Whitfield's Plumbing and Heating, Dawson's insurance agency, the interior of the Molou theatre, Steinberg's and others.

The main street in Haliburton keeps very busy every day and many of the merchants tell us it is one of the busiest summers they have ever had.

Congratulations are in order to O.P.P. officer Mount-steven and his assistants for the remarkable way they handled the traffic for the Haliburton Rotary club's monster parade.

Speeders who are using the main street for a speed-way had better watch themselves. The local O.P.P. officers have served notice that they are out to get these careless drivers and they are not fooling. They have picked several of them up and have warned others that if it happens again the axe will fall.

The business men and employees of Haliburton are to be thanked on the manner of which they have kept their personal cars off the main street during the summer rush season. The local council appealed to them to do this and they have heeded the appeal. By doing so it lets more people into town with a place to park.

We here at the Echo office have been more than pleased in the past week to have met many of our friends who are cottage owners here now and many from the printing trade. Drop in and meet us, we are always happy to help you out in any way we can and we always like to make new friends.

LEGION ACTIVE

HALIBURTON LEGION NEWS

The auditorium of the Haliburton Legion has been enhanced with a hand painted mural. This has added a lot to the auditorium and it is quite striking when you look at it. The next time that you are in the Legion look it over.

Now that the Legion carnival is over the boys have been busy balancing the books and it looks as if the carnival was a great success. All those members who helped in any way are to be congratulated for their efforts.

The Haliburton Legion Band, sponsored by the local branch, have had the branch name put on the bass drum and the hat badges have arrived. We learn from the president, Wallace Chambers, that the arm patches will soon be here.

Speaking of the Legion band, they are now preparing to play at the Wilberforce carnival to be held this Friday evening in the Monmouth community centre. The band, under the direction of bandmaster George Wheeler, are planning on playing several great musical selections.

The carnival at Wilberforce is jointly sponsored by the Haliburton branch of the Legion and the Monmouth community centre. So here is your chance to have a good night of entertainment plus helping out a good cause. If this carnival is successful it will be held every year.

At the regular monthly meeting last Friday night Harold Kirkpatrick was appointed to the executive committee.

WEDDING

Kaasalainen - Gillies

Bethel United Church of Dundalk district was the setting for the wedding on Saturday, July 23 of Caroline Barbara Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton Gillies and Arvo Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jalmari Kaasalainen of Minden.

Standards of summer flowers decorated the church. Rev. Bruce W. Besley of Englehart, brother-in-law of the bride officiated. The wedding music was played by the bride's sister, Mrs. Jas. Scott of Haliburton. Mr. Hector Jack of Dundalk was soloist and sang the "Wedding Prayer."

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She was attended by Miss Faye Walling of Haliburton as maid of honor and her niece, Miss Ellen Rathbun of Hillsburg as bridesmaid. Little Miss Shirley Gillies, niece of the bride, made a charming flower girl.

Ernie Kaasalainen attended his brother as best man and Carlo Kaasalainen and James Gillies were ushers.

The bride's gown was of silk organza and styled with a portrait neckline in a bodice of Swiss lace, dotted with iridescent sequins. The skirt had matching medallions at the sides, front and back and the wide bias bands which trimmed the bouffant skirt met front and back. Her shoulder length veil was held in place with a coronet of seed pearls and crystal tear drops. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white feathered mums.

Her attendants wore identical street length gowns of turquoise silk organza with headaddresses to match. They carried cascade bouquets of red roses and white feathered mums.

The flower girl was attired in white silk organza with a turquoise sash and headband. She carried a basket of sweetheart roses and pin-

During the signing of the register the congregation sang "O Perfect Love."

The reception for about 100 guests was held in the Dundalk United Church parlors. The guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing a dress of rose beige crystalette with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

She was assisted by the groom's mother attired in moss green combed cotton with beige accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the reception the happy young couple left for a honeymoon in the Adirondacks. For her going away ensemble the bride chose a brown and green printed sheath and a contrasting three quarter length coat. Her accessories were moss green and her corsage was white carnations. On their return they will reside in Goderich.

Guests attended from Englehart, Haliburton, Little Britain, Cookstown, Toronto, Windsor, Seaforth, Hillsburg and Hamilton.

IN QUEST OF YESTERDAY

A HISTORY OF HALIBURTON by NILA REYNOLDS

(Copyright applied for)

Sixth Installment

In the early days cash was scarce and each homestead had to be, as far as was possible, a self supporting unit. The only yeast available for baking was made from hops which grew on nearly every homestead. These were annually picked and dried with the greatest care. For pin money, the lady of the house often sold the excess hops for which there was always a ready market. Each time bread was baked a small quantity of the yeast had to be preserved to leaven the next baking. Woe betide the thoughtless housewife who neglected to save some! She, or some member of her family, would be forced to trudge weary miles to the nearest neighbor to borrow a little leaven before she could bake the family bread.

Home made soft soap was for many years the only kind in use on the frontier. Every scrap of fat was scrupulously saved and in the yard there was a barrel of ashes, preserved from the wood fires, from which lye was processed. When fat and lye were united and boiled for the correct length of time the result was a pungent bar, burnt orange in color and greasy to the touch. It was used indiscriminately for faces, hands, clothing, floors, plus any other cleaning job on the agenda. When necessity dictated it was used on wounds as a poultice unequalled in drawing power. It took a strong stomach and germ to withstand the assault of a determined housewife armed with lye soap and a strong right arm.

Today sheep are not a very important item in the economy of Haliburton but yesterday they were a necessity. Their wool was carded at the Minden mill and then spun on the wooden spinning wheels which nearly every home possessed. The yarn which many of the older generation claim was a much better product than that on sale today was knit into stockings, mittens and even underwear.

Idleness was a luxury the pioneer housewife could not afford. When she sat down to rest there was plenty of clothing to be mended, stockings to be knit or a piece of patchwork to be stitched. Some of the really adept knitters could read aloud to their families as they knit for several hours without dropping a stitch. On social occasions the ladies tongues flew as fast as their glittering steel knitting needles from which the stockings and mittens seemed to sprout as if by magic.

When sugar was not available for preserving, apples, corn and berries of all kinds were dried. Summer was berry time for every member of the family big enough to walk. Armed with pails, a lunch and cold tea they sallied forth to reap the luscious harvest which grew in profusion on the recently burned clearings.

Mrs. Lena McCreary (a daughter of little Ben Sawyer) tells of an adventure her sister Greta had while picking raspberries. The bushes from which the berries hung lightly suspended glowed ruby red with the ambrosial fruit and Miss Sawyer was so busy filling her pail that she did not pay too much attention to where the rest of her party were located. She gradually became aware of some movement on the other side of the bush. Thinking it was one of her family she shouted, "Stop shaking the berries!" Imagine her dismay when with a "whoosh" of disgust a large black bear ambled off into the woods in the opposite direction.

The stories of berry pickers and bears are legion but happily they all end without lost limbs, only spilled berries.

The emigration company had a wise policy which encouraged skilled craftsmen to settle in their townships. A high powered publicity campaign throughout the British Isles and the settled counties of Upper Canada netted a unique calibre of settlers.

Lured by promise of a "land flowing with milk and honey" many aristocrats who had hardly worked a whole day in their life came to the nine townships only to find themselves faced with the hazards of the wilderness where survival of the fittest is the unwritten law.

The better class made the most of their breeding and education and conquered their environment making invaluable contributions to the new settlement. Of the others, the less said the better.

It was the practice of many upper class English families of the 19th century to solve the problem of "ne'er do wells" and black sheep by shipping them off post-paid to the colonies. No doubt the high pressure promotion campaign put on by the Canadian Land and Emigration Co., suggested their nine townships as a ready made solution to the problem of what to do with and where to send the ones who didn't make good. It is said that the Evergreen cemetery contains the bones of many who could claim relationship to the nobility and even the royal line itself. The remittance man was no stranger to Haliburton county.

The remainder of the settlers were better prepared to cope with the frontier. Second generation Canadians, they were the sons of Scots, Irish or English settlers already established in the southern counties of Upper Canada. The eldest son usually inherited the homestead. Where families ran to eight and 12 this left plenty of land hungry younger sons eager to tackle the forest and carve homes of their own. They were accustomed to hardship and privation and ideally suited to make the best of opportunity.

The first woman to settle on land owned by the Canadian Land and Emigration Co. was Mariam Holland, youngest daughter of Richard and Mary Holland, who was born in the Township of Murray in the County of Hastings in 1843. In 1860, at the tender age of 17, she traveled with her brother, James Holland, from Trenton to Lindsay. The latter part of the journey to Haliburton was made in a bark canoe. James Holland's home was on the shores of Kashagawigamog which translated from the Indian tongue reads "lake of long and winding waters," a poetic name in the rhyme of Longfellow's "Hiawatha" which exactly describes the lake.

Here Miss Mariam lived with her brother until June 11, 1865 when she married James Buck. The wedding ceremony was performed in Haliburton by the Rev. Frederick Bart. Was her's the first wedding and she the first bride in the village of Haliburton?

The Buck family made their home in the Township of Stanhope (near Buck's slides which was named for James Buck) and then Minden. It was there that James Buck died on April 13, 1888. That was the year of the dreadful plague of diphtheria which took such a tragic toll through the whole county. It is probable that James Buck was among its victims.

Mrs. Buck mothered nine children. Before she passed away at the home of her son Richard Buck at the age of 90, she saw six of those children consigned to their graves. As so often happened in the days before hospitals and pre-natal care, four were buried in infancy. Her daughter Sarah, on the verge of womanhood, died at 14. A second daughter, Mary, who married John Benson, died on April 14, 1918, in Huntsville.

When she came to the municipality in 1860 the whole land was blanketed by trees. She watched, as one by one the settler's clearings were applied on the great quilt of the forest until in later years it became like patchwork. Death prematurely claimed a husband and six children, yet Mrs. Buck met these "slings and arrows of outrageous fortune" with the fortitude that was characteristic of all the pioneer women.

As the municipality's first female resident and perhaps the village of Haliburton's first bride she is certainly deserving of some special recognition. Perhaps, when Haliburton celebrates its centennial in 1964, a fitting tribute will be paid to Mariam Holland Buck.

Another member of the Holland family to inspire interest is Eliza, the wife of James Holland. A daughter of John P. Sipes, Eliza was born in Germany but moved to England with her family when a child. Here she learned to play the accordion which in later years provided so much entertainment for her friends and relatives. Even as an old lady she used to brighten the day of those who passed her home with the melody of a lilting waltz or a melting ballad. Among her most treasured possessions was a tiny accordion little more than a foot long which had been in the Sipe family for over a century and a half. She also owned an accordion almost 100 years old. On the death of Mrs. Holland they were bequeathed to her daughter, Mrs. George Robertson, who with her husband, operated one of Haliburton's first tourist resorts, the Northern Eagle.

Crossing the Atlantic in the 1860's meant a long sea voyage. It took the Sipes family 13 weeks. They settled along what is now the Minden to Haliburton highway and John P. Sipes appears on the Dysart tax rolls of 1867 as a farmer.

In 1860 James Holland built his home on the shores of Lake Kashagawigamog near the present location of Deer Lodge. During 1858 and 1859 he paddled all the way from Peterboro in a bark canoe to maintain a trap line in Haliburton. Holland Lake was named for him.

His father, Charles Holland, was not among the first settlers but he chose to spend his declining years with his son James. While walking along the river bank the old gentleman paused to rest for a moment. Idly he shoved his freshly cut willow walking stick into the well watered earth. It was forgotten when he resumed his walk, but taking advantage of the sun and moisture, it sprouted and green leaves soon graced its slender stem. Today it stands tall on the river banks, a giant of its kind over three feet through.

The Holland family were great tree lovers. On the day Eliza Sipe married James Holland, she planted a sapling on the front lawn of her new home. Tenderly she cared for it; in return it shaded and sheltered her two daughters and four sons. Beneath its protective umbrella of leaves she found rest and refreshment when her work was done.

It is to be hoped that Mrs. Holland's wedding tree still stands as a living memorial to a happy marriage and a useful life.

An emigrant from County Sligo in Northern Ireland had a peculiar effect on the early agricultural economy of the Haliburton area. When James Lickley's father was accidentally killed while assisting passengers to disembark at Quebec City, his mother entered domestic service to support herself and her young son. In 1834 an epidemic of cholera claimed her as a victim leaving James to fend for himself and earn his living as a messenger boy.

He apprenticed himself to a rope maker for four years before shipping on a trading schooner for three years. Lickley realized the disadvantage he faced without education so attended night classes. He first worked in Peterboro County for James Walsh who had a contract to build the Burleigh road. When it was completed he signed in 1866 with the Campbell & Hughson Lumber Co. as chief clerk of the Burleigh road camps. When Ulyott & Sadler of Peterboro bought out the company he remained with the firm.

Although he never married, he did not become a bachelor by choice. As often happened in those disease ridden times, when medical care, if it existed at all, was so handicapped by a lack of effective weapons that it proved futile, the girl to whom he was engaged died just before the wedding and James preferred to cherish her memory rather than a lesser love.

This far sighted man performed an invaluable service to farmers in the back townships. Instead of banking the money which he accumulated, he invested it in cattle which he rented to settlers too poor to purchase livestock for themselves. The settler was allowed to keep a cow for three years. At the end of that time he returned the original animal and her first calf and retained the remaining two calves to start his own herd. Lickley bore the loss of the animal's accidental death. The first applicant to rent a cow was the postmaster of Chandos township, Billings Kilbourne.

By 1884 Lickley's livestock, scattered all the way from Young's Point through the Haliburton district, numbered 160 cattle plus a large flock of sheep. Thanks to James Lickley many children had milk to drink and butter for their bread who otherwise might have gone hungry.

When C. R. Stewart of the Canadian Land and Emigration Co. gave up his temporary job of postmaster, the situation fell to the lot of John Faraday Young. Mr. Young's people were English, his father, Thomas Young, lived in Cavan township before moving to Minden. Here John Young got his start in the merchandising field as a clerk for George and Henry Andrews who in 1868 opened a branch store in Haliburton which Mr. Young managed. When the firm disbanded in 1880, John Young assumed exclusive control. Mr. Young was active in municipal affairs and for some time served as treasurer of the municipality.

The Queen's hotel on the site of the present liquor store in the village of Haliburton had many owners. Among the first was Robert McKelvey, a noted hunter who even in the 1870's specialized in guiding parties of Canadian and American tourists on hunting expeditions. McKelvey came to Peterboro in 1855 from Belfast and like many another man hopefully took up 100 acres in the Township of Snowdon. His marriage to Martha J. Kellett, a sister of Douglas Kellett, was blessed with eight children. He entered the hotel business in Minden then transferred to Haliburton as the proprietor of a hotel near the location of Elstone's Sunoco station. This venture lasted 12 months and was abandoned when he purchased the Queen's hotel which he operated successfully for four years.

McKelvey sold the Queen's hotel to his brother-in-law, Douglas Kellett in 1878.

Douglas Kellett was no stranger to the hardships of the frontier. His parents, George and Caroline Kellett sailed from England in 1840 to make their home in Peterboro county. They abandoned this in 1849 to homestead in Lutterworth township. To reach their new home they had to traverse 15 miles of dense woodland. Their household effects were packed on the back of a single horse which they led and with whom they shared their bread. Young Douglas earned pocket money by selling the products which his snare and rifle secured.

Tragedy came early to the family for when Douglas was eight the mother died. His father married again but as soon as he was old enough to earn a living Douglas cared for his two sisters. Like most young men of the time he worked in the logging camps and farmed. His initial experience as a hotel keeper was obtained at the Springhill hotel between Minden and Kinmount. He graduated to the management of Buck's hotel in Minden and four years later moved to Haliburton to operate the Queen's hotel.

In those days all manner of liquors, wine and beer plus hard cider were sold freely over the bar.

Purchased from the hotel, a gallon of whiskey was worth approximately $2; a single bottle cost $1.25.

At first a shop license, purchased in 1867 from the municipality for $10 with $10 penalties for infringement was necessary.

This arrangement does not seem to have proved satisfactory for in 1869 a tavern license was set at $30 and the shop keepers' license raised to $50. Tavern inspectors were appointed by the council. Mr. Windsor notes that this job was either unpopular or a patronage appointment for a different person occupied the post every year, usually from outside the village of Haliburton.

When the local option by-law was passed in 1910 Haliburton became a dry town and the legal sale of intoxicating beverages was prohibited until the liquor vote of 1958 authorized the erection of an outlet under the supervision of the Ontario government.

It is ironic that the new liquor store was erected on the site of the old Queen's hotel. Even more amusing is the fate of the Black Bear hotel (named for a pet bruin kept on the premises). This building was torn down and around 1889 replaced by Haliburton's first Baptist church. Most active in the establishment of the Baptist church were Mr. Graham of Kinmount and Deacon R. T.

The Bay of Quinte conference Woman's Association of the United Church of Canada held the summer executive meeting on July 17 at the summer home of the president, Mrs. G. E. Dobbs.

There were 19 members in attendance and seven presbyteries represented.

Following a delicious pot luck luncheon the meeting was called to order.

Mrs. Dobbs gave the devotions taking as her text, St. Matthew 25:31-46 which was very appropriate and gave food for thought at this time, World Refugee Year.

She stressed that monies donated by Woman's Association groups to be used for the refugee cause should be marked "super gifts for refugee year" and sent to the United church offices, 85 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto 7, Ont.

Reports were received from the chairman of committees. The presbytery presidents reported planned rates for the fall.

After discussion a motion was made and carried that the conference dispense with the semi-annual meeting for this year.
